Doggie Due Diligence

Whether you're looking for a groomer, pet care professional or trainer, make time to research and have a list of questions ready. Websites and social media can provide insight into business philosophy. Mention any special needs your dog may have. Ask for references. If applicable ask if licensed, bonded and insured, and about contingency plans in case of emergency or natural disaster. Don't wait until the last minute; as a new client it may take extra time to set up and schedule a new account.

Pet care services can book up quickly, especially during busy holiday seasons. Your dog should be up-to-date on vaccinations and monthlies.

Tips for Selecting a Boarding Facility

- An in-person tour is essential. Is the facility clean and secure. Is there adequate light and ventilation free of odors? Take note of boarded dogs; do they look calm and comfortable?
- Do a test run. Book a one day/overnight stay to introduce your dog to the facility. It will be less stressful dropping off for the official stay if your dog is acclimated.
- Are staff experienced with training in dog behavior, medical emergencies and pet first aid.
- Are steps taken to evaluate temperament. How is anxiety managed?
- Review health requirements and ensure all shots are current.
- What are their social protocols. Are dogs separated by size, age and temperament to ensure safety?
- What is the schedule for feeding and playtime. Can you bring your own dog food and comfort/play items?
- Ask about administering medication and other special needs.
- Is there a video feed that you can access to check on your dog?

You know your dog best and it's up to you to select a facility that checks all the boxes. The right choice will give you peace of mind whether you are away for just a few days or an extended trip.

Deadline to request a free listing or to update an existing listing is July 1, 2027.
